

Timothy Maas

Tim recently joined the San Diego Humane Society as the Director of Facilities, leading both the facilities and fleet maintenance. Prior to joining the SDHS team, he worked for Amazon as a Senior Maintenance Manager and served eleven years in the Navy as a nuclear power trained Surface Warfare Officer, supporting excellence in maintenance and operations.

He is excited to support an organization with a greater mission and cause, similar to his time in the Navy. His favorite part of his job is fostering dogs in his office during the day, providing them with exposure to more people and other animals. Additionally, he is passionate about change management and looks for more effective systems, processes, and procedures to fulfill the needs of team members and animals. Whether it is identifying ways to optimize energy usage throughout their campuses or ensuring temperature and humidity are within ASV Guidelines, he is thrilled to be putting his skills to use supporting the welfare of people and animals.

Tim is an outdoor enthusiast and loves spending time hiking, mountain biking, camping, and off-roading. He also enjoys reading, traveling, and learning about other cultures and exploring their environment and foods. While in the Navy, Tim traveled extensively throughout the world and plans to keep traveling throughout the United States as well as internationally. He is an avid learner and always willing to spend time investing in knowledge for personal and professional growth.
