

Brittany Pratt

I have dedicated over seven years to serving as an animal control officer, after which I was promoted to the position of animal services supervisor and subsequently to manager. I am deeply passionate about my work and have now been engaged in this field for nearly a decade. I consider my profession to be my life's purpose. I have always said I don't do this work for the income, it's for the outcome which brings me so much joy. Look forward to working with you all.
